FOURTEENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

Any award of punitive damages in this case is subject to those limitations established by the Alabama Legislature and set forth in § 6-11-21, ALA. CODE (1975). The Alabama Supreme Court's action abolishing the legislatively-created cap on punitive damages was unconstitutional and is without effect. Under the Constitution of the United States and the state of Alabama, the Alabama Supreme Court cannot abolish the cap created by the Legislature on punitive damages through judicial fiat. See Honda Motor Company Limited v. Oberg, 512 U.S. 415, 114 S.Ct. 2331, 129 L.Ed.2d 336 (1994).

FIFTEENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

Plaintiff's claim for punitive damages, and the provisions of Alabama law governing the right to recover punitive damages or the determination of the amount of punitive damages, violates the United States Constitution and/or the common law and/or the public policies of the United States on the following grounds:

a. It is a violation of the Due Process and Equal Protection Clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution to impose punitive damages, which are penal in nature, against a civil Defendant, upon the Plaintiff's satisfying a burden of proof which is less than the "beyond a reasonable doubt" standard required in criminal cases.

b. The procedures pursuant to which punitive damages are awarded fail to provide a reasonable limit on the amount of a punitive award against a Defendant, which violates Defendant's rights to due process as guaranteed by the United States Constitution.

c. The procedures pursuant to which punitive damages are awarded fail to provide specific standards for the award of punitive damages, which violates the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution.

d. The procedures pursuant to which punitive damages are awarded result in the imposition of different penalties for the same or similar acts, and thus, violates the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution and the Defendant's due process rights.

e. Plaintiff's claim for punitive damages against this Defendant cannot be sustained because an award of punitive damages under Alabama law subject to no predetermined limit, such as a maximum multiple of compensatory damages or a maximum amount, on the amount of punitive damages that a jury may impose, including an amount possibly in excess of the amount authorized by the Alabama Criminal Code for the same or similar conduct, and providing no protection against awards of punitive damages for the same course of conduct, will violate this Defendant's due process and equal protection rights as guaranteed by the Fifth, Eighth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution.

f. The procedures pursuant to which punitive damages are awarded permit the imposition of excessive fines in violation of the Eighth Amendment of the United States Constitution and in violation of the Defendant's due process rights.

g. Plaintiff's claim for punitive damages against this Defendant cannot be sustained because any award of punitive damages under Alabama law would violate the Defendant's due process rights in as much as juries are allowed to award punitive damages as they see fit or as a matter of "moral discretion" without adequate or specific standards as to the amount necessary to punish and deter and without a necessary relationship to the amount of actual harm caused.

h. Plaintiff's claim of punitive damages, and the provisions of Alabama law governing the right to recover punitive damages or the determination of punitive damages are unconstitutionally vague, indefinite and uncertain, and they deprive this Defendant of due process of law.

i. Plaintiff's claim of punitive damages, and the provisions of Alabama law governing the right to recover punitive damages or the determination of punitive damages cause this Defendant to be treated differently from other similarly situated persons/entities by subjecting this Defendant to liability beyond the actual loss, if any, caused by Defendant's conduct, if any, and to liability determined without clearly defined principles, standards and limits on the amount of such awards.

j. Plaintiff's claim of punitive damages, and the provisions of Alabama law governing the right to recover punitive damages or the determination of punitive damages, subject this Defendant to punishment for the conduct of others through vicarious liability, respondent superior, or through non-apportionment of damages among joint tortfeasors based on the respective size of their alleged misconduct, in violation of Defendant's due process rights and the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution.

k. Plaintiff's claim for punitive damages, and the provisions of Alabama law governing the right to recover punitive damages or the determination of punitive damages expose this Defendant to the risk of indefinable, unlimited liability unrelated to the actual loss caused by Defendant's conduct, creating a chilling effect on Defendant's exercise of its right to a judicial resolution of this dispute.

l. Plaintiff is not entitled to recover punitive damages, which are penal in nature, because it would violate the self incrimination clause of the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution to compel this Defendant to disclose potentially incriminating documents and evidence.

m. An award of punitive damages in this case would constitute a deprivation of property without due process of law.

n. The procedures pursuant to which punitive damages are awarded are not rationally related to legitimate government interests.

o. The procedures pursuant to which punitive damages are awarded subject this Defendant to punishment under a law not fully established before the alleged offense.

SIXTEENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

Plaintiff's claim for punitive damages cannot be upheld to the extent it violates or contravenes the holding of the United States Supreme Court in ruling on the case of BMW of North America, Inc. v. Gore, 517 U.S. 559, 116 S.Ct. 1589, 134 L.Ed.2d 809 (1996), and Cooper Indus., Inc. v. Leatherman Tool Group, Inc., 532 U.S. 424, 121 S.Ct. 1678, 149 L.Ed.2d 674 (2001).

SEVENTEENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

Plaintiff's demand for punitive damages violates the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment in that the Plaintiff's claim for punitive damages is not necessary to vindicate the state's interest in punishing this Defendant and deterring this Defendant from future misconduct. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v. Campbell, 123 S. Ct. 1513, 155 L. Ed. 2d 585 (April 7, 2003).
